About KathKath Studios

KathKath studios is the collaboration between textile designer Kathy Schicker and graphic designer Kathryn Pledger.

KathKath studios designs and produces unusual and trendsetting prints for fashion, interiors and products. Their main areas of expertise are surface pattern design for digitally printed products. They design for industry and produce short product runs for bespoke projects and exhibitions. They also provide services for small business to launch new product ranges and run a series of educational workshops on digital textile design and production.

KathKath studio launched with their high-end silk scarf and accessories collection, in late 2013, which are available from a number of online retailers.

KathKath worked closely with Graham & Brown to launch a wallpaper as part of their New Wave Collective project in early 2014. They have also licensed their designs for device cases, homeware and fashion, and produced bespoke products for the Fashion and Textiles Museum shop.
